Do you have jaw pain?

Occlusal splints are beneficial for reducing tension, decreasing muscle activity, and preventing harmful effects caused by bruxism and temporomandibular disorders (TMDs).

Are you snoring?

The splint slips over the upper teeth and keeps them from grinding the lower teeth. Wearing a night guard can also help improve breathing and reducing snoring.

Auto Titration

hushd PRO AUTO

"The design allows for minimal bulk which improves compliance. We have seen outstanding results in our clinic with this device and look forward to it helping patients more broadly across the globe"

Dr Christopher Pantin
Hushd Pro Auto Designer

Price on request

The Hushd Pro Auto is an auto titrating mandibular advancement device which means it can titrate the mandible forward during sleep. It is intended to reduce or alleviate snoring and mild to moderate obstructive sleep apnea (OSA) in adults, by opening the airway.

This is particularly pronounced in REM sleep when OSA is commonly more severe. This is facilitated by the atonia experienced in REM sleep, allowing elastics to 'activate' and protrude the Mandible further as required.

Each Hushd Pro Auto consists of one Upper and one Lower arch, plus three different tensions of Elastic bands labeled Light, Medium, Strong.

SKU HSD-PRO-AUT

SUPPLIED ELASTIC BANDS

The Auto offer a unique protrusion method, aiming to improve airway patency in deeper phases of sleep.
